

SHOP DRAPER JAMESSEARCH BLOG

SEPTEMBER 11, 2017 • SOUTHERN TRAVEL

Southern College Tour: Where to Stay and Eat in Durham, NC

For teenagers, heading off to college means freedom and fun and all the glory that entails (e.g., sleeping on dorm room futons and eating dining hall rations).

But on college tours—and later, when visiting collegiate children—families need not accept sub-par lodging and dining.

In order to get a dose of college spirit, the travel experts at Indagare, a membership-based luxury travel company, created a guide to one of our favorite southern college towns: Durham, North Carolina.

They chose Durham since it's a diverse Southern hub located near a host of colleges, including Duke, UNC-Chapel Hill, Wake Forest, and Elon.

HEY Y'ALL! Welcome to the Draper James blog. This is my little slice of space to share the things I love most about life in the South: the people, the parties, the food and the fun! It's everything the Draper James brand stands for. I hope you like it.

Indagare's Avery Carmichael, a Duke alum herself, outlines the best of the budding foodie destination with her favorite hotel and restaurant picks.

WHERE TO STAY IN DURHAM

For Lakeside Luxury: The Umstead Hotel and Spa

A 15-minute drive outside of Durham, the Umstead Hotel and Spa is a refined retreat for families seeking a serene lakefront setting, sophisticated design, and top-notch service.

The luxe property promotes an eco-friendly ethos with a highly-acclaimed restaurant serving inspired farm-to-table cuisine and a spa offering organic treatments.

Courtesy of The Umstead Hotel and Spa

For Art and Design Lovers: 21c

Modern, sleek, and near the heart of Durham, 21c is a contemporary art

LOVE, Reese

FOLLOW US

SHARE YOUR EMAIL &
ENJOY 20% OFF PLUS FREE SHIPPING!

POPULAR POSTS

1. Style School: How to Dress Like Madeline Mackenzie From "Big Little Lies"
2. Hello, Sugar: My Modern Cookery's First Day of Fall Pumpkin Slab Pie Recipe
3. Southern Soundcheck: A Fall Playlist From Mary Sarah of "The Voice"
4. On Southern Gossip: A Little Bird Told Me...
5. Leon Bridges' Exclusive Draper

aficionado's dream.

This boutique museum-hotel displays rotating art exhibitions and features airy, stylish accommodations and boasts a stellar restaurant.

Courtesy of 21c Museum Hotels

WHERE TO EAT IN DURHAM

For Innovative Tapas: Mateo

In the heart of downtown Durham, Mateo offers traditional Spanish tapas with Southern flair.

The rustic décor belies a sophisticated take on dishes such as arroz frito, patatas bravas, and costillas de puerco, which are complemented by regional specialties like pepper jelly, pickled pumpkin, or collard greens.

James Playlist Inspired by “Big Little Lies”

What We're Loving Lately

MEADOW VINES LACE DRESS

Courtesy of Mateo's Bar de Tapas

For Modern Asian Fusion: Juju

Juju is a hot spot for innovative cocktails and Asian fusion small plates, such as braised beef short rib wontons, and Indonesian gado gado, in a sleek, convivial setting.

Courtesy of Juju

For a Classic Southern Brunch: Foster's Market

Southern chef extraordinaire Sara Foster is at the helm of Foster's Market, a Durham institution that is part café, part gourmet food market.

The café serves an unparalleled brunch of homestyle favorites like cheesy biscuits, scrambled eggs, and crispy bacon, while the market stocks fine Southern delicacies.

Courtesy of Foster's Market, Photographs by Peter Frank Edwards

For Upscale Americana: Nana's

A classic Durham restaurant for 25 years, Nana's serves delicious New American fare in a cozy, welcoming environment.

The menu evolves with the seasons and highlights locally sourced ingredients, such as the pan-roasted North Carolina bass with fig caponata or the succulent short rib ravioli.

Courtesy of Nana's Restaurant, Photographs by Hillary Honeck

COMMENTS: 2

SHARE: [!\[\]\(003082e50e3009141f59bd5df831749f_img.jpg\)](#) [!\[\]\(f439ede8735757e3190eab35e168f1de_img.jpg\)](#) [!\[\]\(f5c165e0bd35116675db6686a30b1fea_img.jpg\)](#) [!\[\]\(8eeb5cc52b4d0f9a4ccc73b2d771855c_img.jpg\)](#) [!\[\]\(d339191bc3bc55555af8e02f21021073_img.jpg\)](#) [!\[\]\(00c8dfb23d6b000feab61fe21d82fc94_img.jpg\)](#)

You May Also Like

SOUTHERN TRAVEL

Style School: What to Wear to Keeneland with Sydney of Summer Wind

FOOD

5 Meals To Check Off Your Lexington, Kentucky Bucket List

SOUTHERN TRAVEL

DJ on the Road: Snapshots From Our Tailgate Pop-Up at The Graduate Athens

Comments

Community

1 Login ▾

♥ Recommend

🔗 Share

Sort by Best ▾

Join the discussion...

LOG IN WITH

OR SIGN UP WITH DISQUS ?

Name

Teresa McBennett · 2 months ago

The Umstead is not in Durham. It's in Cary. If you are gonna do a blog on Durham, then please just list Durham places - there are lots of great places to stay and eat here.

3 ^ | v · Reply · Share ›

Kristen Douglas • 2 months ago

A bit disappointed that Fosters was really the only relatively lower priced option on their list, but hey, some folks think pricey is always going to be the best. What was more annoying, though, was that the blog specifically mentioned that Durham was great for college students (and even that the writer is a Duke alum), but as is the usual, failed to mention the other University (NCCU - a Historically Black College, PART of the UNC system) in Durham while mentioning three other colleges that are not in Durham. It seems par for the course for these types of articles to overlook the HBCU, but not usually this blatantly.

That combined with the mention of the currently hip, pricey places (including the Umstead, which isn't even in Durham) just makes this article come off as yet another example of the whitewashing and gentrification of the American South.

2 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

ABOUT US

OUR STORY

GIVING BACK

STORE LOCATOR

PRESS INQUIRIES

CUSTOMER CARE

CONTACT US

SHIPPING

RETURNS

GIFT CARDS

SIZE GUIDE

SHARE YOUR EMAIL & ENJOY 20% OFF PLUS FREE SHIPPING!

Sign Up

FOLLOW US

